Dr. Boots Quietly Dons the Official Sandals of Dr. Partridge.

Since the discovery that the bill reorganizing the State Board of Health so as to give the Democrate a majority was but a headless trunk and therefore without life and powerless to give life, the Republicans have been quietly enjoying their victory and chuckling over what appeared to them, and to every one else for that matter, an inexcusable oversight in the Legislature. But there came to light yesterday a little affair which illustrates the want of penetration on the part of the Republicans, and which was discovered too late to apply a remedy, if the Governor and State officers are not mistaken In their views of the law governing in the case, which has already been turned to the profit of the Democrats in general and Dr. Boots in particular. When the Governor discovered that the reorganization bill was imperative on account of wanting the enacting clause, he determined to look closely into the appointment of the Republican members, and he soon found that the Senate journals did not record the fact that Dr. Partridge, of South Bend, had ever been confirmed by the Senate after being nominated by Governor Porter. In looking through the records in the office of Secretary of State, the Governor also discovered that neither Drs. Lomax or Partridge had filed a certified copy of their oath of office. A still further examination found Dr. Elder, the Secretary of the board, in the same box. This discovery was made on Thursday, and the Governor immediately telegraphed for Dr. Boots to come to the city. Upon the arrival of that gentleman he was duly commissioned a member of the State Board of Health, took the cath of office and filed a certified copy of the same with the Secretary of State. Dr. Boots said nothing to any one concerning his appointment, and the Governor was seeking a successor to Dr. Lomax, when this part of the programme was blocked by a certified copy of Dr. Lomax's oath of office being filed with the State Secretary at So'clock yesterday morning. In conversation with Governor Gray, yesterday, he gave the facts substantially as narrated in the foregoing and said that he had no doubt of the absolute legality of Dr. Boots' appointment and questioned very nuch whether we have had a State Board of Health since the appointment of the two members who failed to comply with the law regarding the filing of a certified copy of their oaths of office. When asked regarding the effect of this discovery upon the Sacratary, he said that the only question involved was whether the board that elected him had any such right. He was inclined to think that the board was not a legal one, and therefore the election of a Secretary was not legal. He said that the filing of a certified copy of the oath of office of Dr. Lomax would cure the defect heretofore existing in his case and, of course, preclude the possibility of appointing a successor. The Governor appeared to be very well pleased that it was in his power to constitute a Democratic majority in the board, and, if the appointment of Dr. Boots holds good (and there is no question in his mind regarding it), he has certainly succeeded much better than the Legislature in the effort.

It appears that Dr. Elder learned last week that a surprise was in store for the board, and he started out to find what it was. By Saturday morning, after a deal of "hustling," he had the true in wardness of the move, and he immediately telegraphed Drs. Lomax and Partridge concerning the situation. Both physicians were sworn in at the time they were appointed, but neither complied with the law requiring a certified copy of the oath to be filed. Upon receiving Dr. Elder's telegram they again took the cath of office, Dr. Lemax at Marion and Dr. Partridge at South Bend, and forwarded certified copies of the same to Dr. E'der, who in the meantime had taken the oath of office a second time, and all the certified copies were filed at an early hour yesterday morning. When seen by a Sentinel reporter Dr. Elder was "resting comfortably," and did not appear to think that the change in the status of affairs would affect him in the least. He received a certificate of his election, signed by the President and Secretary, and though, like the others, he had failed to file a certified copy of his oath of office, he regarded his action of yesterday as curing any defect in that regard. He said that he could be removed only for cause, and he knew the members of the board to be gentlemen, and did not fear the adoption of any extraordinary or illegal measures to replace him with a Democrat.

There is little doubt but Dr. Partridge will test the matter in the courts rather than yield the point. He is said to be not only tenacious, but pugnacious as well, and if this is true the controversy may become interesting. Governor Gray's action is based not upon any provision in the act creating the Board of Health, but on a general law of the State requiring all appointed and elected officers to take an oath before entering upon their duties and to file a certified copy of the same with the proper officer,

Quarterly Report of the Board of Commissioners-Condition of the Work-Total Expendi-

The State-house Commissioners have prepared their report for the quarter ending March 31, and it will be submitted to the Governor to-day. The report says that, for the quarter embraced, very little work was done on the walls, owing to the very severe weather, but the three months were occapied in delivering material and dressing the stone. The supply was large, and at the beginning of no building season in the history of this house has there been a larger supply on hand than at present. The yard is nearly full of stone, and 750,000 bricks are on the ground ready for use. About onehalf of all the iron needed for the roof and ornamental cornices is already delivered. The machinery has all been overhauled and put in good order for the season's work. The board has concluded to use hollow the flooring instead of brick arches in a portion of the corridors-between the grand staircase of the second and third stories and on the State Library floor in the third story. The board promises that "the south half, or rather two-thirds of the building, shall be completed in time to accommodate the meeting of the next General Assembly." The report shows the following expenditures: For quarter ending March 31, 1885....$ 60,900 61

> Ammonia in Baking Powders. (Scientific American.)

Among the recent discoveries in science and chemistry, none is more important than the uses to which common ammonia can be properly put as a leavening agent, and which indicate that this familiar salt is hereafter to perform an active part in the preparation of our daily food.

The carbonate of ammonia is an exceedingly volatile substance. Place a small portion of it upon a knife and hold it over a flame, and it will almost immediately be entirely developed into gas and pass off into the air. The gas thus formed is a simple composition of nitrogen and hydrogen. No residue is left from the ammonia. This gives it its superiority as a leavening power over soda and cream of tartar used alone, and has induced its use as a supplement to these articles. A small amount of ammonia in the dough is effective in producing bread that will be lighter, sweeter, and more wholesome than that risen by any other leavening agent. When it is acted upon by the heat of baking the leavening gas that raises the dough is liberated. In this act it uses itself up, as it were; the ammonia is entirely diffused, leaving no trace or residuum whatever. The light, fluffy, flaky appearace, so desirable in buiscuits, etc., and so. sought after by professional cooks, is said to be imparted to them only by the use of this

The bakers and baking powder manufacturers producing the finest goods have been quick to avail themselves of this useful discovery, and the handsomest and best bread and cake are now largely risen by the aid of ammonia, cembined, of course, with other leavening material.

Ammonia is one of the best known products of the laboratory. If, as seems to be justly claimed for it, the application of its properties to the purposes of cooking results in giving us lighter and more wholesome bread, biscuit, and cake, it will prove a boon to dyspeptic humanity, and will speedily force itself into general use in the new field to which science has assigned it.
